SUMMARY

Motivated and curious Software Engineering student with a solid foundation in back-end development, databases, and data analysis. Skilled in Python, SQL, and web technologies such as HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and React. Completed the IBM Back-End Development Professional Certificate, gaining hands-on experience with Flask, Django, Docker, and microservices.
Proficient in English, with strong communication and problem-solving skills developed through academic, professional, and international experiences.
Open to exploring different paths in tech, my goal is to grow as a well-rounded software engineer by contributing to innovative projects, learning from diverse experiences, and discovering which areas I connect with most.
